FOR YOUR INFORMATION

The Health Spot

Cold Weather Guidelines

Last week, the SCHSL sent out Cold Weather Guidelines for athletic participation. Even though our weather in South Carolina rarely will drop to these low levels, it is important to understand how to keep our student-athletes safe in the event they do. Recognition of cold injuries such as hypothermia and frostbite are also necessary for immediate intervention. Please see the link below to view the new SCHSL guidelines.

Officials' Whistle Tools for Success

Below are a few tips for your school to use to Bench Bad Behavior at contests:

1. Official's are to ensure the integrity and safety of student-athletes on the floor or field, but it is the Administration's role at each contest to handle inappropriate behavior of spectators immediately. When you see a spectator getting out of hand, take care of it then and there. Remember, what you allow, you promote.
2. Be sure to have security present. You know your spectators, have the appropriate amount of security for your contests. (ie. rivalry games)
3. If you have a student section at your contests, be sure to set parameters for their behavior. Meet with students to establish baselines for behavior at contests.
 - Positively cheer on your school's team
 - Do not make negative or degrading remarks towards the officials or opposing team.

For additional questions concerning the Officials' Whistle contact Associate Commissioner Sarah Hayes at Sarah@schsl.org.

The late Mahatma Gandhi once said "Be the change you wish to see in the world." This quote is essential for the state of high school athletics in South Carolina. Currently, we are seeing an uptick in ejections and unsportsmanlike conduct from spectators, coaches, and athletes. It's time to clean it up. Creating a positive environment starts with you. We, at the SCHSL, are here to help. Please invest your time by taking this free course on Sportsmanship. This course can arm you with the tools to create a culture of care while still maintaining a competitive edge. Please click the link below for access.
